- The diagram illustrates a sequence of 100 boxes arranged in four groups of 25. The boxes are connected by lines and labeled with various symbols and numbers, including "2:7", "4:1", and "7". The diagram is divided into four main sections by vertical lines, each containing a different set of boxes and labels.
- Section 1 (Leftmost): Contains the first 25 boxes. It is labeled with "2:7" and "4:1".
 - Section 2: Contains the next 25 boxes. It is labeled with "7" and "4:1".
 - Section 3: Contains the next 25 boxes. It is labeled with "7" and "4:1".
 - Section 4 (Rightmost): Contains the final 25 boxes. It is labeled with "7" and "4:1".
- The diagram is a complex representation of a sequence of 100 boxes, with each box containing a unique combination of symbols and numbers. The boxes are arranged in a grid-like structure, with lines connecting them to form a continuous path. The labels "2:7", "4:1", and "7" are placed at various points along the path, indicating specific relationships or transitions between the boxes.
